To Challenge NATO Report

Says US and Britain Not Consulted About Report

PARIS (AP) — American and British members of a NATO parliamentary committee today are expected to challenge charges by a study group that the alliance's ground forces are disintegrating and atomic weapons are being over emphasized.

Neither U. S. nor British representatives were consulted by the Belgian and Dutch officials who drew up the critical report. The larger nations were certain to offer a rebuttal.

Lone Negro Bandit Strikes Again Sunday

Fits Description Of Bandit in Three Other Robberies

The lone Negro bandit struck again. The latest holdup pulled was about 8:30 p.m. Sunday night at Kay's Cafe on North Highway 65, his third holdup in a week. The bandit obtained about $91 from Mrs. Lula Eva Tidwell, 46, waitress, 1012 South Missouri.

"I knew it would be a holdup before it happened," Mrs. Tidwell told officers investigating the robbery. "I could just feel that something was wrong when he came in and ordered coffee to go."

The bandit, answering almost the same description as given officers in three previous holdups, was described as being about 30 years old, wearing a three-quarter length service jacket of olive drab color, about five feet 10 inches tall, bare headed, medium color and medium weight.

According to the report he calmly walked in the Cafe' when no customers were in the place and asked for a cup of coffee to go. Mrs. Tidwell said she asked him if he wanted cream and sugar and he explained he did.

"I put the cup down on the counter and he laid down 50 cents," she said. "He picked up the coffee and remarked, 'this is really hot' then he put it down by the cash register, as I opened it. I dropped the 50 cents in the drawer, and he said 'I want the money' and I said, 'Okay'."

"I took the paper money out of the drawer and he kinda lifted his jacket up with his hand in the right pocket as if he might have a gun in it. He then reached over with his left hand and almost snatched the money from my hand, picked up the coffee and went out the door. I asked him before he turned if he wanted it all, and he said he didn't want the change."

Mrs. Tidwell explained the Negro kept looking at the door as if he was watching to see if anyone was coming in. He appeared as if he was "very brave," according to her statement.

"When he left he was hurrying and as he went outside he turned south," she said. "I waited to be sure he was away from the window, then went down stairs and called the police and had one of the other girls to tell Jim (Jim Cox) at the service station we had been robbed."

Other employees in the cafe noticed the man in the place but were unaware a holdup was in progress until Mrs. Tidwell informed them, it was executed so calmly by the man.

The D-X service station is operated by Jim Cox, 1820 South Beacon, who was sitting in the station with John Hill, unaware of the holdup until the women called to him. The cafe is operated by Mrs. Cox, who reported after checking the cash register approximately $91 had been taken.

The holdup was investigated by Trooper Richard Joss of the State Highway Patrol, Deputy Sheriffs Ed George and George Brown. The cup of coffee was found lying beside the road which runs east and west just south of the station, the Negro apparently throwing it away.

Barge Rams Historic Trestle Across Lake

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — A runaway steel barge, loaded with tons of rock, rammed a 60-foot hole through the historic Lucin Cutoff railroad trestle yesterday after breaking loose from its tug.

A cattle train headed west out of Ogden was halted before it reached the break, 30 miles west of here.

The cutoff, a 12-mile wooden trestle, carries the main line of Southern Pacific tracks across the Great Salt Lake.

Train crews hoped to have the cutoff back in service by tomorrow. Trains were being detoured around the lake in the meantime.

Serenity and Warmth

Nadine Conner Captivates Community Concert Audience

Nadine Conner, stellar Metropolitan soprano was presented by the Sedalia Community Concert Association in the first concert of the season at Smith-Cotton auditorium, Saturday night, Nov. 9.

Appealingly beautiful and possessing an exquisite voice, Miss Conner captivated a most appreciative audience through a program chosen with impeccable taste. Throughout the diverse program in which religious, descriptive, arias and recitations and folk lore were represented, Miss Conner continued to display serenity through her interpretive art, serenity without aloofness and with a personal sense of warmth.

In her first group she did music of the church, requiring a wide range, great breadth of interpretation and a sustained quality of tone. Miss Conner was generous with her encores and especially popular was "P's and Q's" from the comic opera, "Fledermaus" by Strauss which she sang following her second group. In the section that she devoted to descriptive music the enthralled audience listened intensely to wide degrees of shading through contrasting tonal color of melodic songs which were delicate, sustained and musically quite complex. Perhaps the "heaviest" music on the program was Norina's Aria from "Don Pasquale" which required great command of voice and accurate musicianship. She followed this group with a novelty number, "Cupid's Captive" dedicated to the younger set on the front row.

An Air Force plane sighted a third flare some 340 miles west of the Pan American airliners' last reported position. It was described as white.

Surface craft criss-crossed the search area, now broken into two rectangular areas under the new pattern. One is 460 miles long and 165 miles wide and the other is 695 miles long and 172 miles wide.

Both straddle the path the lost plane was navigating.

Earlier, hope had flickered and faded with a report of the sighting of a yellow dye marker, "a flare and something red" at a spot 425 miles west of the airliner's last position.

Hours elapsed before two ships reported that nothing could be found at that spot. A Coast Guard spokesman said re-evaluation of the sighting—reported by a lone airman—indicated it could have been a school of whales instead of a marker, or possibly other fish.

Another hopeful report—that of an oil slick—was being thoroughly checked by surface craft.

The airliner—Romance of the Skies—carried 36 passengers and a crew of eight from San Francisco to Honolulu. At 5:04 a.m. Friday it routinely radioed its position 1,028 miles east of Honolulu. The pilot was supposed to make another routine report at 6 p.m.

He didn't. The plane abruptly and silently disappeared.

That set off the biggest peacetime search in the Pacific. And it prompted speculation—but described as "pure speculation"—that something sudden and terrifying had happened. Pan American officials refused to speculate. They said emphatically that nobody knew or could guess what had happened to the four-engine, luxuriously equipped plane.

A Pan American spokesman said the search now included 25 aircraft, three submarines, 8 Coast Guard vessels and the carrier Philippine Sea with 13 Gruman radar-tracking planes and sub-hunting helicopters.

Rescue Hope Wanes

Gigantic Search Continues Over Large Area; No Trace Since Report

HONOLULU (AP) — Hope of rescuing any of the 44 persons missing since Friday night on a vanished Pan American stratocruiser in the Pacific virtually flickered out today.

Three flares sighted last night were probably "shooting stars or from other search aircraft," a Coast Guard spokesman said. "They were flight flares and that's always kind of doubtful" as a distress signal.

Investigation of the flares continued after daybreak as part of a gigantic search operation covering 172,440 square miles of the ocean.

But no trace of the missing plane, "Romance of the Skies," had been found at daylight today, more than 2½ days after last word from the huge Flying Clipper.

Additional search aircraft flew out from Oahu Island at daylight to join the Pacific's greatest sea rescue mission, planes, helicopters, submarines, the aircraft carrier Philippine Sea and a small fleet of Coast Guard vessels searched the ocean's swells for traces of the plane after a series of possible clues faded out.

The destroyer escort Epperson had been ordered to investigate the flares sighted last night.

Long-range radar-equipped Navy Constellations reported seeing two flares at different points—one 540 miles west of the plane's position when it radioed routinely Friday night before disappearing. The second was slightly west of the first.

An Air Force plane sighted a third flare some 340 miles west of the Pan American airliners' last reported position. It was described as white.

Surface craft criss-crossed the search area, now broken into two rectangular areas under the new pattern. One is 460 miles long and 165 miles wide and the other is 695 miles long and 172 miles wide.

Pope Urges Experts In Agriculture to Aid Impoverished Farmers

CASTEL Gandolfo, Italy (AP) — Pope Pius XII has urged agricultural experts to halt the slow impoverishment of the farmer in the world's economy.

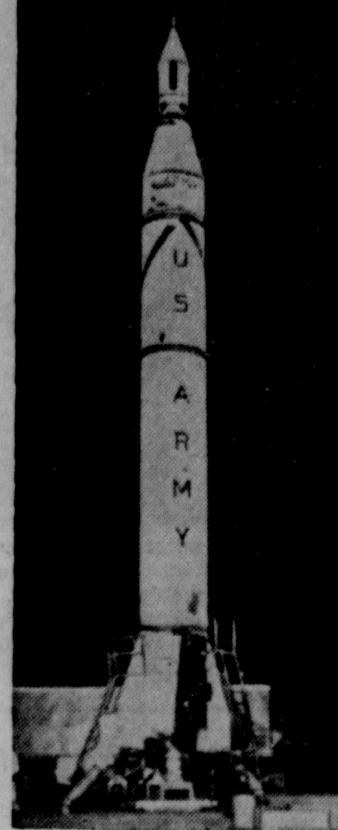

He told delegates to the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization general conference that the plight of the farmer is an urgent problem that troubles him.

He urged delegates of the 74-nation FAO meeting to do their utmost to halt this deterioration and to reverse its course.

The Pope received the delegates in special audience at his summer residence here Saturday. His address was released today.

He said that the constantly more precarious situation of the farmer is having a "sorrowful result" — the depopulation of the fields, especially in Europe.

This, he said, also provokes a new series of social and religious problems.

JUPITER READIED FOR TEST — Army ballistics missile agency technicians ready the three-stage Jupiter missile for the final test of the air-friction problem. The successful test was fired from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Aug. 8, and the nose cone that was recovered was displayed Thursday night by President Eisenhower during his television address to the nation. Shortly before this picture was released by the Department of Defense, the Pentagon announced that the Army has been ordered to proceed with plans to launch an earth satellite, using a modified version of the Jupiter. Says Sputnik Dog Is Dead

Reports Laika Is Given Strong Narcotic in Food

WASHINGTON (AP) — Death reportedly has claimed the Russian dog Laika, first earth creature to penetrate outer space.

The report of Laika's death was published today by the Italian Communist newspaper L'Unita, quoting its Moscow correspondent. It said Laika was "put to sleep by a strong narcotic contained in the last bite of food to avoid its suffering prolonged agony."

The headline said "Laika is Dead," although the story did not use these words. It said, "Laika will never return to earth."

An early edition of the Rome newspaper quoted what it said was an official Moscow announcement of the dog's death. But the final edition did not mention an official announcement.

There was no direct word from Moscow on Laika's fate, but the Soviet news agency Tass said last night that "the program of scientific research as planned through the second Sputnik has been fulfilled completely."

Later, Moscow radio reported that Sputnik II had completed its 10th circuit of the earth, but made no mention of Laika.

Russia's second space satellite was launched eight days ago, carrying the fluffy little Russian dog in harness inside. For the first four days, the Russians reported getting radioed information on Laika's bodily reactions as the half-ton Sputnik sped around the earth at altitudes running up to more than 1,000 miles.

The Tass report said Sputnik II's two radio transmitters now are dead and that direct reports no longer are being received. It said nothing about Laika.

"The program of scientific observations connected with receiving data from this Sputnik was estimated for seven days," the agency said. "At present this program has been fulfilled completely."

Tass reported that valuable information has been obtained from these observations and that further study will be made through radar and optical equipment.

In London, Prof. A. C. Lovell, a leading British astronomer, said it was "very, very odd" that the radio transmissions from Sputnik II ended so quickly. He said he can't believe "they sent this rock up for getting information from it for only seven days."

English Couple Want To Live in a Sputnik

IPSWICH, England (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Philip Fortin want to set up housekeeping in a Sputnik.

Mrs. Fortin, 46, said she has volunteered in a telegram to the Soviet Embassy in London to go up in an artificial satellite.

Her husband, 56, told a reporter he would go along because "We've been happily married for 21 years and I don't want to be separated now."

Mrs. Fortin said she was undeterred by the probability that once aloft she and her husband might be unable to return to earth to.

"Space is a much safer place than down below these days," she said.

Family Marks End to Long Separation

CHICAGO (AP)—A reunited family today marked the end to 11 years of separation, 11 years spent by the American father in seeking to free his Lithuanian wife and two children from a Communist labor camp in Siberia.

William Gavcus, 47, a naturalized American, greeted his happy family at Midway Airport yesterday.

Seeing them for the first time in more than a decade, he was speechless with emotion.

"Everything dimmed—I was in tears," he told newsmen.

"I'm just beginning to come to. I am the happiest man in this whole, wide world. I do not have the words to express myself."

Monika, his 44-year-old wife, took it calmly. So did their daughter Rutha, 16, and son Romualda, 13. Neither Mrs. Gavcus nor the children speak English but they chatted happily in Russian and Lithuanian.

Gavcus married Monika in 1939 on a trip to his native country. He had to leave his family behind when he returned to the United States in 1946, he said. He began then to plead with officialdom to bring the family together on American soil.

Three years after they separated, the wife and children were sent to a collective farm in Siberia. Gavcus intensified his appeals. He asked an attorney from New York, Marshall MacDuffie, to help.

MacDuffie, a former United Nations official, took the appeal personally to Soviet party Boss Nikita Khrushchev, but he met with little success.

Eventually MacDuffie asked Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt to intercede. She too spoke directly to Khrushchev.

This year the family was released. Gavcus, who operates a liquor store in suburban Oak Park said he financed most of the Siberia-to-Chicago trip himself.

The wife of the Lithuanian consul, Mrs. Petras Dauzvardis, said this was the first time the Soviets have released anyone from Siberia to settle in the United States.

PROPOSED PARLIAMENT—Causing somewhat of a furor is this model of Israel's new "Knesset," or Parliament building, as it would look according to a winning design chosen by state authorities in a contest among the country's leading architects. Designed by Yosef Klarwein, it vaguely resembles the famous Parthenon of Greece. The choice has aroused protests from private citizens, disappointed competitors and those who do not consider it typically "Israeli." The new Knesset would be erected on the outskirts of Jerusalem.

Train, Car Crash In Rome Kills US Congressman

ROME, Ga. (AP)—Rep. Henders Lanham (D-Ga.), 69, a veteran of 11 years in Congress, was killed yesterday when his car and a train collided at a Rome crossing.

He was a member of the House Appropriations committee.

Friends said he was vigorously opposed to reductions in the armed services and never hesitated to speak out when he thought it necessary.

Police said he was driving alone on the way to address a Parent-Teacher Assn. meeting at nearby Garden Lakes school.

County policeman Bill Hart said a Central of Georgia switch engine struck his car broadside, knocking it into a ditch. The congressman was found lying beside the vehicle and was pronounced dead at the scene.

Lanham was born in Rome Sept. 14, 1888. He received a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Georgia in 1910 and a bachelor of laws degree in 1911.

He was elected to Congress Nov. 5, 1946, winning the Democratic nomination from Malcolm C. Turner, who had held the 7th Dist. seat for 20 years.

Lanham was married Sept. 1,

A REPORT ON YOUR SUPPLY OF NATURAL GAS THIS WINTER . . .

CITIES SERVICE GAS COMPANY
FIRST NATIONAL BUILDING
OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLAHOMA

November 11, 1957

Dear Friends:

Winter is just around the corner, and you will soon be enjoying the warmth and comfort of your home—a warmth made possible because there is an adequate supply of clean, efficient, economical natural gas—right at your finger tips.

All summer long hundreds of skilled men, using the most modern equipment, have been hard at work extending pipelines—developing additional underground storage facilities—increasing compressor capacity—and installing new and modern equipment.

This year, as in the past, it has been necessary to enlarge and improve our transmission system so that your local gas company can deliver the warmth, comfort, and convenience you will need this winter and in the future. In fact, nearly fifteen million dollars is being spent this year on the construction program pictured in the photographs around this letter.

Every item required to complete these essential projects has cost more than ever before. Salaries and wages are higher—the price of steel has advanced—equipment costs more—and you are familiar with the advance in interest rates on borrowed money.

Of course, these increased costs have seriously reduced our earnings. If the inflationary trend continues, it will become increasingly difficult to attract the new capital necessary to go forward with our expansion program without additional revenue.

We are mindful of our responsibility to supply the growing needs of the domestic and industrial consumers of natural gas in this area, and therefore we must be equally concerned about a fair and reasonable return for our investors.

Natural gas is now—and will continue to be—one of your biggest bargains in better living.

Sincerely,
K. E. Crenshaw
Executive Vice President

Practically anybody, still battling with daily realities, would take note when two of his neighbors in their early thirties had upset a law of theoretical physics.

But not Princeton and the people on Nassau St. here. This town has abdicated from commandancy precisely with a deep civic yawn.

After all, the Princeton telephone book—only 21 pages long—lists the posh preparatory Hun School; practically Princeton University; the profound Institute for Advanced Study; where Yang and Lee work; and more deep thinkers and successful artists than any one place should have.

Only on the wall of a Princeton men's lavatory would you find the sole scrawled obscenity: "Fetish." And on a Saturday afternoon after the awards, most of Nassau St. summed up its applause for its young Nobel Prize winners with one word:

"Who?"

Shop owners, passersby, students, gas station attendants, cashiers—even newspaper dealers here have never heard of Dr. Yang or Dr. Lee.

"Listen," a motorcycle police man said. "There are so many important people in this town you finally give up trying to keep them straight in your mind."

A small woman who runs a tea room wasn't certain that she knew the two doctors, but she was certain that the Princeton University football score at the half was nothing-nothing.

Nobel Prize Winners Just Two Names in Phone Book

DR. YANG (left) AND DR. LEE: Said the policeman, "There are so many important people in this town . . ."

PRINCETON'S EINSTEIN DRIVE: Nobel Prize Winner Dr. Lee lives there, but they don't know it on Nassau St.

By WARD CANNELL
NEA Staff Correspondent

PRINCETON, N.J. — (NEA) — It will come as a shock when—and if—this lovely little intellectual preserve finds out that Dr. Tsung Dao Lee and Dr. Chen Ing Yang live here.

Almost any other city would be proudly aware that two of its citizens had just won the Nobel Prize. Practically anybody, still battling with daily realities, would take note when two of his neighbors in their early thirties had upset a law of theoretical physics.

But not Princeton and the people on Nassau St. here. This town has abdicated from commandancy precisely with a deep civic yawn.

After all, the Princeton telephone book—only 21 pages long—lists the posh preparatory Hun School; practically Princeton University; the profound Institute for Advanced Study; where Yang and Lee work; and more deep thinkers and successful artists than any one place should have.

Only on the wall of a Princeton men's lavatory would you find the sole scrawled obscenity: "Fetish." And on a Saturday afternoon after the awards, most of Nassau St. summed up its applause for its young Nobel Prize winners with one word:

"Who?"

Shop owners, passersby, students, gas station attendants, cashiers—even newspaper dealers here have never heard of Dr. Yang or Dr. Lee.

"Listen," a motorcycle police man said. "There are so many important people in this town you finally give up trying to keep them straight in your mind."

A small woman who runs a tea room wasn't certain that she knew the two doctors, but she was certain that the Princeton University football score at the half was nothing-nothing.

But, of course, nobody knows how to get there.

Actually, the prize-winners were remarkably easy to find in the telephone book—once you could find a telephone book.

Dr. Yang, 35, apologized for being inaccessible but he had a lot of work to do. He said that he was honored by the prize, and humbled by it.

He explained that he had written to his parents in Communist-held Shanghai, but it would probably take the letter 10 days to get there. He assumed his people would have heard about his achievement by radio.

Dr. Lee, however, was available in his apartment at 47 Einstein Drive on the outskirts of this improbable community. He was on the floor, playing with his two young sons and looking very much like their older brother.

He is from Shanghai, too, and is now the youngest full professor at Columbia University in New York.

But while teaching was a challenge, he said, it was also rewarding to be on leave at the Institute. It was quiet, nice for the children, good to live away from New York where neighbors did not know each other.

"Yes," he said. "I am 31. But this makes me middle-aged in theoretical physics where many important discoveries are made by people in their twenties."

On all of Nassau St. on this afternoon, only two men knew about the physicists and their Nobel Prize. The first was a dry-goods shop owner who admitted to reading the daily newspapers.

Alert Syrian Army Units Near Border

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—All Syrian army units in the north were ordered on the alert today in a show of alarm at what an army spokesman called unusually large Turkish troop movements along the border.

Foreign Ministry sources said the Cabinet held a two-hour meeting about midnight to consider the motives of the sudden Turkish activities.

The army spokesman said "large-scale, night-long, unusual and unprecedented military movements" of Turkish units took place, and as a result all necessary precautions were being taken by Syria.

Foreign Ministry sources reported about 300 Turkish vehicles, including tanks, began moving last night when Turkish villages and border outposts along the border were suddenly blacked out. These sources said the movements were noted at four points in the general area of Bab al Hawa, northwest of Aleppo.

This show of alarm about the northern frontier, where Syria and the Soviet Union have been charging Turkey with making provocative gestures, coincided with a huge demonstration here against King Hussein of Jordan.

Prowler May Cause Change In Sleep Wear

KANSAS CITY (AP)—William T. Golden, 32, is a hardy soul who sleeps in the nude summer and winter. Or he did up until now. But after springing out of bed at 4 a.m. today in response to a scream from his 7-year-old daughter and then chasing a house prowler eight blocks in 40 degree weather, Golden may change his habit.

Golden told police, he, his wife and the child, Ruby Agnes, were sleeping soundly in their home when the girl was awakened by a noise and saw a man bending over her bed. She screamed.

Golden, in the nude, jumped up and started after a man who fled from the house. The irate father didn't even stop for his shoes or slippers. Eight blocks away near Union Station Golden collared a man and hailed a passing police car. The officers took into custody Samuel Sylvester Johnson, 17, Negro.

Two of Golden's neighbors then arrived and took him home so he could dress before going to the police station. The two, William Jester and Richard Price, told police they also had been awakened by a prowler in their home and were scouring the neighborhood for him when they came upon Golden and his captive.

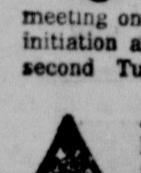

Police said Johnson was released four months ago from the Boonville reformatory. He was held pending further investigation.

Man Admits Killing Two Teenage Girls

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Police said a married man involved in a romantic quadrangle has admitted killing his two teen-age sweethearts because he was afraid his wife would find out about them.

The bodies of Miss Beverly Ann Eldred, 17, and Mrs. Deanna Jean Fouch, 16, both of Dayton, were found by a motorist alongside a county road about five miles south of here yesterday. They had been shot.

Detective Lt. R. C. Beckett of the sheriff's office said Robert Crites, 31-year-old father of four, admitted in a signed statement that he killed the girls.

In the statement, Crites was quoted as saying he didn't want the girls to do to others what they had done to him. He said he had spent much time and money on them.

Beckett said the statement also mentioned that Crites intended to take the girls' bodies to Colorado and, while there, kill his wife's sister because "she's just like the other two." But he abandoned that idea after the slaying.

Beckett said he will ask the prosecutor today to file first-degree murder charges against Crites.

Beckett said Crites told of taking both girls for a drive in his car yesterday. He stopped on some pretext, got out, then fired six bullets through a window one girl had opened, his statement related.

The girls' bodies fell out when Crites opened the door. He said he left them there and drove to his mother's home in suburban Kettering. From there he called Kettering authorities and gave up.

Ways to Close Asia-US Gaps Are Detailed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The gaps between Asia and America remain wide, but America's largest conference on Asia detailed ways to close them.

The sixth National Conference for UNESCO ended Saturday with a warning by India's First Lady, Mme. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, that "half the world cannot move around in excars while the other half rides in Cadillacs."

Closing the excart-Cadillac gap was only one small phase of the conference, where 1,500 Americans attacked the problem: "Asia and the United States—What the American citizens can do to promote mutual understanding and cooperation."

Greetings from President Eisenhower, Japanese Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi, Philippines President Carlos Garcia and other chiefs of state underlined the urgency of the conference.

Mme. Pandit, India's high commissioner to the United Kingdom, cited these reasons for lack of Asian-American understanding:

1. American ignorance of Asia Asians also don't know what America is all about, she said.

2. Racial prejudice in the United States, which she conceded hits Asians with "disproportionate impact."

3. Resentment of Asian national experiments in socialism. "We in Asia . . . must develop our democracies according to our own conditioning and our own needs."

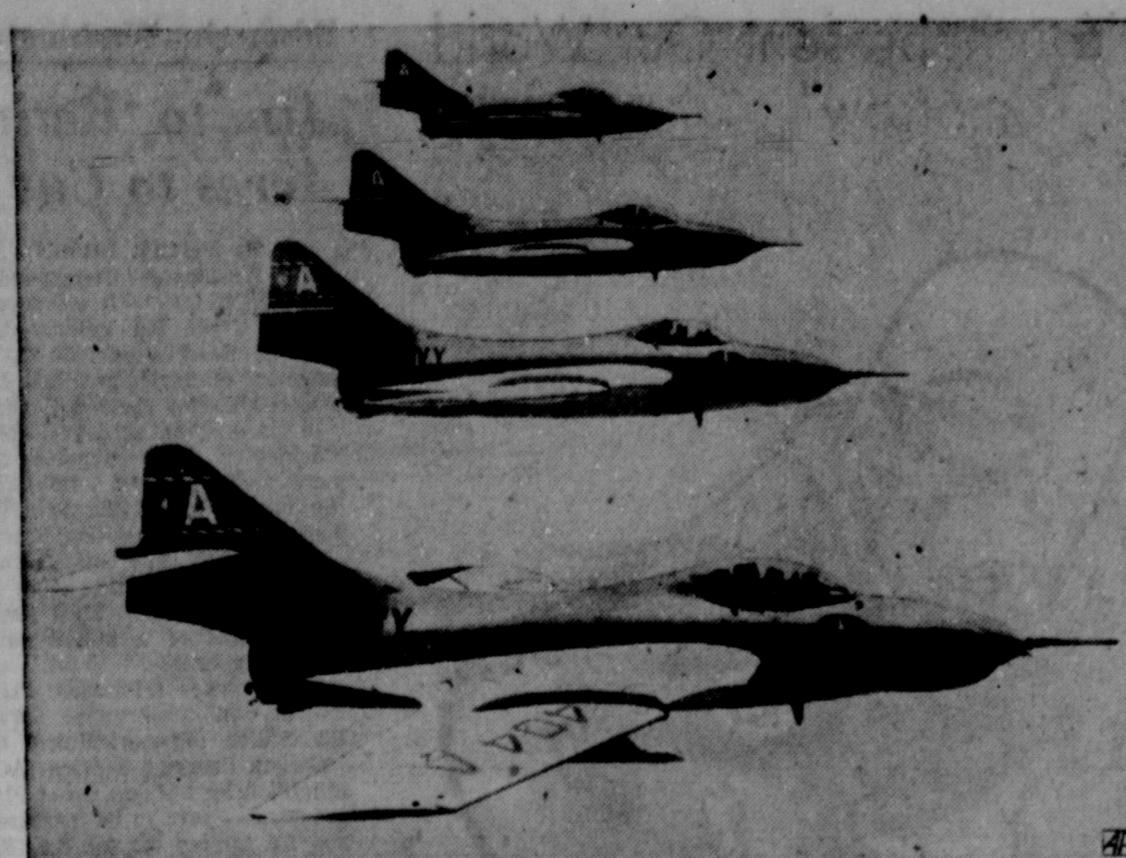

4. The excart and Cadillac gap, which she called "an imbalance of . . . far greater danger to the world than the deadliest weapons of destruction."

One panel group suggested doubling U. S. aid to the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization every two years for a decade.

Delegates agreed economic aid must continue and be expanded but with more attention to Asia's real needs than to what Americans can think Asia needs.

Also that more and better news, both ways, is needed; so are more movies, books, art forms and personal contacts, they said.

Ingrid Bergman Has No Comment On Separation

AIR AND SEA CHECK—Four F9F-9 Navy Cougar jet fighters streak through sky while on reconnoitering mission off the aircraft carrier Hornet operating in Far East waters.

Correspondent Says Little Prospect Exists For New Revolution

LONDON (AP)—Ingrid Bergman arrived in London last night to work on a new film and refused to discuss her break with her husband, Roberto Rossellini.

Her eyes filling with tears at a question about her legal separation last week from the Italian director, the actress said: "There has been too much reaction to our decision."

The reaction, she added, was "not much more considerate than it had been before," apparently a reference to the publicity which accompanied her affair with Rossellini nearly eight years ago while she was still married to Dr. Peter Lindstrom.

Miss Bergman said her three children by Rossellini would remain in Rome until she finds an apartment in London. She said she expected to remain in the British capital at least six months but "I'll go back to Italy now and then . . . on and off." She added she has no plans to go to Hollywood. Miss Bergman also denied a Stockholm report that she plans to marry Lars Schmidt, a wealthy Swedish impresario. The actress was met at the airport by Cary Grant, her costar in the coming film comedy "Kind Sir."

Arab Nations Prepare

CAIRO (AP)—Eight Arab nations plan to set up a worldwide propaganda machine to combat "misleading Zionist imperialist propaganda which harms the Arabs' reputation."

They agreed on this at an eight-day information conference in Cairo which wound up yesterday. Delegates from Egypt, Sudan, Syria, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Lebanon, Libya and Yemen attended.

Jordan, which is feuding with Egypt, was not represented.

Chinese Girl Arrives in US To Join Parents

BOSTON (AP)—A new life in a new freedom-loving country began today for a 9-year-old Chinese girl who was smuggled out of Red China to be reunited with her parents here after a separation of 8½ years.

Aurora was left with her grandmother in Shanghai in 1949 because she was too ill at the time to accompany her parents when they came to Boston for a visit.

Shortly after the Ways departed, the city was captured by the Communists. They declined to allow the child to join her parents. Last winter Aurora was smuggled

OLD SNIDER-GRIFIN HOUSE Van Buren

Still standing after 104 years, these stout walls stopped bullets in December, 1862. Confederate troops attacked foraging Union soldiers who were stripping the farm of widowed Mary Ann Snider. Victims of the skirmish lie buried in a small cemetery nearby.

After the war, Mrs. Snider married William Griffin, Confederate veteran, and until her death in 1917, lived in this house. Its sandstone chimney and weathered oak logs chinked with home-made mortar are a tribute to its builder, Samuel Cusick Snider, and an eloquent reminder of Missouri's turbulent history.

Salute to a Great Plane

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

The plane bears the quite ordinary designation of DC-3. But it is perhaps the most extraordinary commercial aircraft that ever took to the skies.

Today there are only about 270 DC-3's in regular operation on 22 scheduled airlines around the country, mostly feeder routes. But once there were thousands flying all over the world, and altogether the Douglas Aircraft company built 11,000 of them.

Soon there will be none, for Congress has approved financial aid to small airlines to enable them to replace the DC-3 with more modern ships.

But when the DC-3 began service with major airlines in 1933, it was quickly recognized as the sleekest, most serviceable and most economical commercial craft of its time. In five years it represented 90 per cent of the nation's commercial fleet, and foreign lines also were using it extensively.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Ike May Bury Grudge With Truman

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The crisis over Sputnik may finally end the long grudge President Eisenhower has held against former President Harry Truman.

It's reported from members of the palace guard that, in order to attain more national unity and Democratic support for his administration, he will call upon Truman and ex-Secretary of State Dean Acheson for advice.

Eisenhower's bitterness toward Truman was first evidenced when, as president-elect, he called at the White House on Jan. 20, 1953, to pick up retiring President Truman to drive to the Capitol for the inauguration. General Eisenhower did not get out of his car and go into the White House, as is customary, to greet the retiring president. Truman waited inside the White House; then, rather than create an incident, went to the front door and got in the car.

Later, when Eisenhower visited a cattle show in Kansas City, Truman tried to pay a courtesy call on him at the Hotel Muehlebach, but was told the president was too busy. Mr. Truman, who has a strong sense of respect for the office of president, no matter who occupies it, felt that he should pay his respects to Eisenhower when he arrived in Truman's home town, Kansas City.

On one occasion the former president told me: "One of the first things I did when I became president was to invite Herbert Hoover to the White House. I told him, 'Whenever you come to Washington, I want you to consider this your home, and the White House cars yours.'

"But these people," said Mr. Truman a little wistfully, "don't seem to like me."

I didn't realize at first whom he meant by "these people." Later, I realized he was referring to one man—Eisenhower.

Again last spring when the Greek government invited Truman to come to Greece on the 10th anniversary of the Truman doctrine, the president refused to give him any official status, and Truman refused to go.

I talked to Truman last week in Los Angeles, and while this subject didn't come up, I have a hunch that if Ike makes the first move, as now reported from White House advisers, Harry will be delighted to bury the hatchet, roll up his sleeves, and work for his country.

It was hushed up in a closed-door meeting, but way back last April Dr. Werner Von Braun, top U.S. missile expert, warned members of a House appropriations subcommittee that Russia was making important strides in rocket technology.

The committee was examining the Defense Department's 1958 request for guided missile research funds. Some congressmen were perplexed by Secretary Wilson's proposal to cut

Guest Editorial

COLUMBIA MISSOURIAN: Legislative Changes Needed. What Missouri needs more than a good nickel cigar is a more realistic legislative set-up.

Under the present system the legislature convenes in January and must adjourn by May 31 of the same year. It does not meet again until January two years later.

The first six weeks or two months of every session are taken up in committee action on proposed legislation with proportionately few measures actually reaching the floor. With the short session this means an overcrowded calendar for the last half of the session, particularly the closing days.

There simply is not enough time to give proper consideration to all the bills introduced in a single session. The volume of work to be handled is too great. Consequently, much that is important and beneficial is lost while some bills of doubtful value have been able to squeeze through. Last-ditch efforts to push important legislation or appropriations result in something like the ill-fated Omnibus Bill of the last session.

Unless the legislature is called into special session, there is no other opportunity to consider these surplus bills. Even then the legislature is restricted to the matters included by the governor in his call. This means the governor controls the legislative branch during the remainder of the two years.

Another sore spot is the prohibition on appropriations for interim committees. This means that little work can be done between sessions or that it must be done at the personal expense of the legislators.

Add to these difficulties the low salaries being paid legislators, and you have an impressive list of handicaps. Were these the only difficulties under which our state legislature is required to operate, it would still be enough to warrant a sweeping reform.

The need for legislative reform has been apparent and has been recognized for several years, yet no action has followed. If we could realize the most urgent needs, longer or more frequent sessions and higher salaries, other needed reforms would soon follow.

The business of government is a full-time job, and Missouri needs more than just a part-time legislature.

In World War II a military version known as the C-47 earned the title, "Jeep of the skies."

A transport workhorse, it did almost every conceivable wartime job. It freighted millions of tons of war supplies, carried paratroopers over battle zones, bore the wounded back to base, and so on. Overloaded C-47's somehow struggled into the air. Others, shot up and with motors failing, miraculously got back to ground safely.

After the war, however, the advance of aviation into bigger, faster, more powerful planes finally outdistanced the little two-engined ship that carried just 21 passengers and sat down on its tall rest at a sharp angle.

But as the DC-3 goes into the last chapters of its long service, Americans are not likely to forget its stalwart, steady performance both in war and in peace. Commercial aviation really came of age with the DC-3. And no one can really measure the lift it gave the Allied cause in World War II. It has earned a firm niche in flying history.

HST, Ike Administrations Shocked Awake

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Truman and Eisenhower administrations both fell asleep. They were shocked awake by a war and a Spunuk.

It is not clear whether President Truman ever fully understood—or that President Eisenhower does now—the threat from Russian progress in missiles, satellites and science.

The Russians have outstripped this country in satellites, probably in intercontinental missiles, and in emphasis on training scientists and engineers. Why?

No one has pointed the finger more sharply than Werner von Braun.

W. D. Montgomery, World War veteran and representative of the Salvation Army, gave the Armistice Day address at the courthouse lawn Friday morning. After his talk, a salute was fired and taps sounded in tribute to the World War dead.

"We are curious about something?" asked Scrivner. "What question is it we are curious about as it relates to the moon?"

Von Braun thought a moment, then told a story about how the English physicist, Faraday, was ridiculed when he made his basic discoveries about electricity.

"What is the purpose of a newborn baby?" Faraday had asked his critics.

Faraday's discoveries, Von Braun pointed out, eventually became the basis of all modern electric power.

The Smith-Cotton Tigers Wednesday defeated the Marshall Owls in a football game in that city Wednesday by a score of 14 to 0.

The state chamber of commerce charges that wage determination under the prevailing wage law are often "out of line" with the actual wages of affected counties. Bill Brown, research director for the chamber, says for many rural county projects the prevailing wage is based primarily on union wages in metropolitan areas. He said many school districts and small cities are feeling the bite since high wage determinations means that projects can't be finished for the amount originally planned.

Brown quoted a letter from the Mayor of Cabool stating that the final result of the prevailing wage law might mean that Cabool would be unable to accomplish its planned program of sewer extensions on the funds available.

Millett said there have been only two complaints against the 1940 wage determinations made by the industrial commission since Sept. 1. "I don't think that shows our determinations are out of line."

The state chamber said a number of small towns have shown interest in pooling resources to finance a court attack on the constitutionality of the prevailing wage law. Brown said a legal opinion is being prepared in connection with the proposed law suit by a private law firm.

Brown said he personally believes the new Missouri law is unconstitutional.

Extension Council Members For Pettis Will Be Elected

On next Monday night, Nov. 18, elections will be held in all 17 townships of Pettis County to elect 19 members to the Agricultural Extension Council. This council was set up by a bill passed unanimously by the Missouri House and Senate and signed into law by the Governor on June 21, 1955.

This Council is composed of a man and woman elected from each township for a two year term. Half of them are elected one year and half the next.

The purpose of the Council is to direct agricultural, home economics and rural youth work conducted in the county under the supervision of the county agents through the Missouri Agricultural Extension Service.

Because the Council does have such responsibilities, they are making every effort to have a good turn-out at the election meetings Nov. 18. The election meetings will be held by the men and women members of the Council for that township. They will be assisted by the home economics clubs and 4-H clubs in that township.

One 4-H club in the township will present a skit on extension work and all 4-H members in the township are urged to bring their parents. Also one home economics club will serve as hostess that night and all home economics club members in the township are urged to attend and to assist with refreshments.

The place of the township meetings, the names of the present members of the Council and the names of the 4-H clubs and Home Economics clubs directly responsible for assisting with the township meetings are listed below:

vile Township; Thomas P. Harvey, chairman, Longwood Township; Mrs. Rudy Rehmer, secretary, Lake Creek, and Willard T. Hall, vice-chairman, Elk Fork Township. The two members not present were Mrs. Floyd Leftwich, Heath's Creek, and Mrs. John Sisby, Cedar Township. (Extension photo.)

Elect Council Members Nov. 18

On next Monday evening, 17 meetings will be held over Pettis County to elect or reelect members of the Agricultural Extension Council. This Council is just two years old and like any other two-year-old "toddler" needs a lot of support.

The past two years attendance at election meetings has been like school board elections, very poor. This year the council is hoping to stimulate it with a 4-H club program and with refreshments at each election.

Some folks say they do not want to attend for fear of getting a job. There might be two answers to that. First you owe it to your community to do some things for it and second if you feel some one else is equally capable, come and help elect him.

How Much Work Is There to It?

That is not too hard a question to answer. The two members of the council from each township meet four times a year. In addition each member of the council is asked to serve on a committee that will meet three or four times a year.

Seven folks will be elected to make up the executive board and they meet once a month, usually on Saturday afternoon. This executive board is considered a committee and these seven folks are not expected to work on any other committee.

How Important Is Their Work?

That is another question that is not too hard to answer. If you were asked whether an organization that taught good character building practices as well as good farming and home making practices to 600 4-H boys and girls was important I expect you would be quite emphatic in saying "yes."

The council not only supervises the 4-H program but is making plans to reach 600 more Pettis County youngsters who are not at present in 4-H clubs.

They also supervise the other work coming out of the extension office, including the 30 home economics clubs with over 600 women members and the local Farm and Home Planning Association with its 50 members. Of equal importance are the interpretation an-ditions of the Home Economics Clubs toward these election meetings?

A: A 4-H Club will present an educational skit patterned after the television program "I've Got A Secret". The township council members will present a report of the Extension activities during the past 12 months and conduct the election:

Q: What are the responsibilities of the Home Economics Clubs toward these election meetings?

A: All clubs are to help to get attendance by inviting people in the township to this meeting. This is to be done by sending postcards, using the telephone and announcing the meeting at all meetings being held from now until time for the election.

O'Connell Has Taken Place Of Graham

By MIKE RATHET
The Associated Press

Otto Graham! Who he? The Cleveland Browns, who bristled with an aura of invincibility while Uncle Otto was lofting TD passes, were supposed to turn into the National Football League's patsies when he made his second "retirement" permanently at the close of the 1955 season.

But Coach Paul Brown went the prognosticators one better and installed the veteran George Rattnerman at the helm. He filled in ably until a knee injury signaled an end to his career.

A dejected Brown put out a call for available talent and Tommy O'Connell, former Illinois great, answered it.

It's been O'Connell in the quarterback slot since late 1956 and he's beginning to make them forget the fabulous Graham.

O'Connell tossed two touchdown passes yesterday as the Browns maintained their hold on the Eastern Division lead with a 24-0 victory over Pittsburgh's Steelers.

This, coupled with San Francisco's 37-24 loss to the Los Angeles Rams left the Browns with the best mark in the league, 6-1.

Despite their loss, the 49ers continued to pace the Western Conference with a 5-2 record, one hop ahead of Baltimore and Detroit at 4-3.

The Colts remained in contention with a 21-17 victory over Washington and the Lions dropped Philadelphia 27-16. In the East, Giants (5-2) stayed right behind the Browns by defeating Chicago's Cardinals, 27-14.

In the other game on the full program, Chicago's Bears beat Green Bay, 21-14.

Lou Groza opened the Cleveland scoring with a 34-yard field goal, his eighth this season. Then O'Connell took over. He completed 7 of 11 passes for 156 yards and touchdowns to Ray Renfro and Preston Carpenter.

Ten-year veteran Bobby Layne, his injured ribs strapped with tape, came off the bench to win it for the Lions. He threw three scoring passes, kicked two field goals and added a trio of conversions. The Eagles were leading 3-0 when Layne pulled himself together. At one point in the second quarter, Layne completed six in a row, every other one a TD.

Seven College Teams Fall From Unbeaten Ranks Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seven college football teams from the perfect record class over the week end, chopping the unbeaten, untied list to 23 including just four major schools.

Among the major ranks, Texas A&M leads the quartet with eight straight victories while Oklahoma, Auburn, and Arizona State of Tempe have seven in a row.

Pittsburg (Kan.) State, which won the Central Conference title Saturday, is the only unbeaten 9-game winner in the country. The Gorillas have scored 300 points to opponents' 46.

Oklahoma and Lincoln (Mo.) each have scored 200 points against opponents among undefeated 7-game winners. Lincoln has been scored against for 68 points, Oklahoma 48.

Mather's Last Season At Kansas University May Turn Out His Best

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Coach Chuck Mather's last season as Kansas University football coach may turn out to be his best.

Now that he's resigned after four dismal seasons, Mather's team has started winning. The Jayhawks stand third in the Big Eight Conference after narrow victories in successive weeks over Nebraska and Kansas State.

A victory over either Oklahoma State next Saturday or Missouri Nov. 23 would give the Jayhaws a 4-5-1 season record. Under Mather, Kansas since 1954 finished 0-10-2, 3-6-1 and 3-6-1.

Beating Missouri, the only foe left that counts in Big Eight statistics, would give Kansas a 4-2 conference record—at least a tie for second place behind Oklahoma.

Wilkinson's Sooners Convince MU They Still Have a Punch

By SKIPPER PATRICK
The Associated Press

Football rivals of Oklahoma can put aside now any restive thoughts about Bud Wilkinson's Sooners having lost their devastating punch.

Oklahoma had barely squeaked past Colorado 14-13 and looked unimpressive in a 13-0 victory over Kansas State on previous weekend but the Sooners plastered Missouri's widely heralded defenses 39-14 Saturday.

That assured Oklahoma of a berth in Miami's Orange Bowl on New Year's Day, and at least a tie for the Big Eight championship. All Oklahoma has to do is wrap up its 10th consecutive conference crown is beat lowly Nebraska at Lincoln Nov. 23.

The immediate business at hand for the Sooners is Notre Dame, at Norman Saturday. The game is at 3:30 p.m. on Saturday. The Ducks are 1-1-1 record.

Missouri gave Oklahoma a battle for two quarters, trailing only 13-7 at the half, but couldn't stand up under Sooner pressure in the second half. Six Oklahoma backs scored a touchdown apiece.

Missouri did manage to pull one of its goal line stands, taking the ball from the Sooners, once on the one yard line. Charlie Rash ran his consecutive conversion string to 22, tying a Missouri record set by Bob Dawson in 1947-48.

For the second week Kansas came through in the clutch for a sparkling victory. Coach Mather's Jayhawks beat Kansas State when a substitute, Duane Morris, tossed a touchdown pass to Homer Floyd in the last 18 seconds. It was a costly victory for Kansas, however. Quarterback Wally Strauch suffered a broken hand and Bob Marshall, out of action since the TCU game, reinjured a knee.

Aggies Keep Going, Don't Get Weary

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Texas A&M, the nation's No. 1 team, sped through its eighth straight victory Saturday with 10 boys getting in 40 to 50 minutes apiece, as usual.

You have to be tough to wear the moleskin of Aggieland. Never more than 28 players get into a game and 13 of those do about 90 per cent of the playing.

This may be the thinnest squad, quantitatively speaking, to ever lead the nation.

"Are the boys tired and weary?" somebody asked Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant after the Aggies were "up" four weeks in a row for important Southwest Conference games.

"Tired?" snorted the coach. "They can't get tired with the little work we've been able to get in, in view of the bad weather, injuries and illness."

Bryant might have said something about how he works his substitutions like a game of chess, making them at the time when there can be no ill effects from the loss of strength.

He also might have mentioned that the Aggies are noted for strong finishes. They seem tougher at the finish than at the start.

They're in mighty fine condition for boys who get to work so little. The fans call them "Bear-fearing players." They mean that the Aggies call on all their reserve strength when the going gets tough because they have pride—a pride that says they won't let down for their coach.

The 10 who usually play from 40 to 50 minutes each are ends Bobby Marks and John Tracey, tackles Charley Krueger and Ken Beck, center John Gilbert, guard Tommy Howard, quarterback Roddy Osborne, halfbacks John Crow and Loyd Taylor and fullback Dick Gay.

Only at guard are these numerous substitutions and it's because there are few experienced men at these posts. Eight boys have been used at the two positions. "We just have to sort of hide our guards," says Bryant.

Selkirk says his blow came in 1938 off Oral Hildebrand, then a pitcher for the Cleveland Indians.

Last Half Spurts Indicate Pep Talks by Coaches

NEW YORK (AP)—From a distance it looks as though there was a great deal of halftime oratory among the collegiate coaching clan Saturday.

At any rate, some second halves were real pips. Tops among the major games was the 35-point second half Wisconsin poured on while running up a 41-12 score on North Dakota.

Oklahoma (you remember those old sub-par Sooners), added to the Missouri misery with a 26-point spurt in the last two periods of that 39-14 decision.

Even top-ranked Texas A&M played it cool, settling the 19-6 decision over SMU with 13 in the second half.

Kansas scored 'em all in the second half while beating Kansas State 13-7, the last touchdown with 18 seconds remaining.

Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson is the latest to learn the first 100 are the toughest. That breeze against Mizzou was his 101st.

Charlie Sifford Wins Sudden Death Playoff In Long Beach Open

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Philadelphia's Charlie Sifford won a "sudden death" playoff for first place in the Long Beach open golf tournament, beating Eric Monti of Los Angeles.

The two had finished in a tie for first place yesterday with 54 hole scores of 203, 10 under par. Monti's putt for a half was an inch short on the third extra hole and Sifford became the first Negro to win a tournament in which many big name players participated. He won $1,200; Monti, $1,100.

It didn't say that those who have neglected to list such items in the past can continue to ignore them safely. The law has required since 1951 that they be listed.

Europe's Rugged Alps Brings Death to 385 Climbers During Year

ROME (AP) — Europe's rugged Alps, an eternal challenge to man's spirit of adventure, dealt out death to 385 climbers this year. It was the most tragic mountaineering season ever recorded.

An Associated Press survey, made as November snows ended the Alpine climbing season, showed this country-by-country toll: Germany 43, Switzerland 111, France 42, Austria 109 and Italy 80.

The total was almost 50 per cent greater than 1953, the worst previous year, when 269 perished in the Alps.

Veteran Alpinists said most of this year's dead were amateur climbers who ventured into the mountains without proper equipment or professional advice.
